

Liste des auteurs

Christophe BOUILLAUD est professeur de science politique à l'Institut d'études politiques de Grenoble, membre du laboratoire PACTE (UMR 5194 du CNRS).

Tom BRYDER is professor of political science at the University of Copenhagen where he teaches political culture and political psychology, including xenophobia and politics. In addition he is a fellow of the Policy Sciences Institute, Yale. He has taught at Humboldt University, University of Helsinki, University of Ljubljana, and a host of other universities in Europe and the United States. He is also interested in the study of political language, rhetoric and propaganda.

Stéphanie DECHEZELLE est docteur en science politique et chercheuse au SPIRIT (UMR CNRS 5116) – Institut d'études politiques de Bordeaux.

Pascal DELWIT est professeur de science politique à l'Université libre de Bruxelles (ULB). Il y mène ses recherches au Centre d'étude de la vie politique. Il est l'auteur de très nombreux travaux sur la vie politique en Belgique et en Europe. Il est entre autres l'auteur de Social Democracy in Europe, Editions de l'Université de Bruxelles (2005) et le co-auteur de Revolution or Renovation ? Reforming Local Politics in Europe, Vanden Broele (2005). pdelwit@ulb.ac.be

Sarah L. DE LANGE is a PhD Candidate in the Department of Political Science at the University of Antwerp, Belgium. Her PhD dissertation focuses on the government participation of radical right-wing populist parties in Western Europe. Her more general research interests include right-wing extremism, government formation theory and models of party competition. Recent articles have appeared in Acta Politica, EPS, Ethical Perspectives, and Party Politics.

Stefano FELLA lectures politics at London Metropolitan University and previously co-ordinated EU research projects related to governance, civil society, immigration and anti-racism at the University of Trento. His publications include New Labour and the European Union, Political Strategy, Policy Transition and the Amsterdam Treaty Negotiation (Ashgate 2002) and (with Carlo Ruzza) Reinventing the Italian Right : Territorial Politics, Populism and Post-Fascism (Routledge, forthcoming). He has also recently edited a special issue « Politics in Italy – Still in Transition » of the Journal of Southern Europe and the Balkans 8, 2 (2006) and has written a number of journal articles and book chapters on British and Italian politics.

Susanne FRÖLICH-STEFFEN, Dr. phil., is research fellow at the Ludwig-Maximilians-University Munich and lecturer at the University of Innsbruck and the University of Eichstätt-Ingoldstadt. Recent publications : « Rechtspopulistische Herausforderer in Konkordanzdemokratien : Erfahrungen aus Österreich, der Schweiz und den Niederlanden », in Decker, Frank, Populismus. Nützliches Korrektiv oder Gefahr für die Demokratie ?, Wiesbaden 2006, p. 144-164 ; « Österreichische Identität und Europa », in Kramer, Helmut, Liebhart, Karin, Stadler, Friedrich (Hg.), Österreichische Nation – Kultur – Exil und Widerstand, Wien 2006, p. 53-68. susanne.froelich-steffen@lrz.uni-muenchen.de

Gilles IVALDI is a researcher in politics at the University of Nice-Sophia Antipolis (CNRS-URMIS) and a lecturer in comparative politics and applied statistics at Sciences-Po Paris. He is also co-convenor of the European research network on « Extreme Right Electorates and Party Success » (EREPS). gilles.ivaldi@unice.fr

Paul LUCARDIE received a Ph.D. in political science at Queen's University (Kingston, Canada) in 1980. Since 1979 he has been Research Fellow at the Documentation Centre on Dutch Political Parties (DNPP) at the University of Groningen ; since 1991 he is affiliated also with the Canadian Studies Centre at the same university. He has published on political ideologies and parties in the Netherlands, Canada and Germany.

Oscar MAZZOLENI is director of the Research Observatory for Political Science of the Canton Ticino (Switzerland). He has previously been Visiting Fellow at the European University Institute and has taught at the Universities of Applied Sciences of Southern Switzerland, Lausanne, Sorbonne Paris I, and the Institut d'Etudes Politiques (Paris). His main scientific interests are in the fields of political parties, political elites, and citizen's attitudes. His recent publications include Nationalisme et Populisme en Suisse : La Radicalisation de la « Nouvelle UDC », Lausanne, 2003 ; L'Europa vista dal Cantone Ticino. Campagne e voto referendario, Bellinzona, 2007, co-authored with Paola Ferragutti, Mauro Stanga and Andrea Pilotti. He is the author of numerous articles on Swiss politics.

Philippe POIRIER, docteur en sciences politiques (thèse : Histoire et identités des extrêmes droites en Europe, 2002), est Senior Researcher en sciences politiques à l'Université de Luxembourg où il y enseigne l'histoire des idées politiques et la politique européenne. Il est coordinateur de la recherche prioritaire de l'Université du Luxembourg « Gouvernance européenne », Axe II Démocratie, Processus de décision et de légitimation et enseignant-chercheur invité à l'Université Sorbonne Paris IV depuis 2006. Il a publié et participé à de nombreux ouvrages sur les droites extrêmes et le conservatisme en Amérique du Nord et en Europe.

Lars RENSMANN, Dr. phil., is DAAD Assistant Professor of Political Science at the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor. Recent publications : « Europeanism and Americanism in the Age of Globalization », European Journal of Political Theory 5, 2 (2006), p. 139-170 ; « From High Hopes to On-Going Defeat : The New Extreme Right's Political Mobilization and its National Electoral Failure in Germany », German Politics & Society 24, 2 (2006), p. 67-92.

Carlo RUZZA has written extensively on the role of civil society in relation to political parties and social movements. His publications include a volume on the role of civil society at the European level (Europe and Civil Society, Manchester University Press, 2004), two volumes on the same topic edited with V. Della Sala (Governance and Civil Society : Normative Dimensions and Governance and Civil Society : Policy Perspectives, Manchester University Press, 2007) and numerous book chapters and articles in journals on ethno-nationalism and populism.

Philippe SECONDY est docteur en science politique. Chargé de cours à l'Université de Montpellier, il collabore aux activités du CEPEL-CNRS. Il a récemment publié : La persistance du « Midi blanc ». L'Hérault (1789-1962), Perpignan, Presses universitaires de Perpignan, 2006 ; « Alliance Droite-Front national. Le cas de Jacques Blanc dans le laboratoire languedocien (1986-2004) », Revue politique et parlementaire, 108<sup>e</sup> année.

Damir SKENDEROVIC, Ph.D., is Senior Lecturer at the Department of Contemporary History at the University of Fribourg. Previously, he has been a Visiting Scholar at the Center of European Studies at New York University and has taught Sociology at the Universities of Zurich and Lucerne. He currently co-directs the research projects « Radical Right-Wing Populist Parties and Politics of Migration in Switzerland » and « Language and Identity Politics », both funded by the Swiss National Science Foundation. His research and publications focus on the radical right, political parties, intellectual history, nationalism, racism, migration, and identity politics.

Sorina SOARE est docteur en sciences politiques de l'Université libre de Bruxelles et collaborateur scientifique au Centre d'étude de la vie politique de l'ULB. Ses recherches portent sur les changements politiques en Europe postcommunisme, l'étude des partis politiques et les modèles organisationnels partisans contemporains. Elle a publié de nombreux articles à ce sujet.

Gerrit VOERMAN est docteur en histoire. Depuis 1989, il dirige le Centre de documentation des partis politiques des Pays-Bas de l'Université de Groningen (DNPP). Il a publié de nombreux travaux sur les partis politiques des Pays-Bas et sur la gauche en Europe.